The local Tories in their zeal to keep up their end of the political boodle stick publish telegrams from the premier and others. It will be observed that no date is given. No names of members elect. No constituencies or majorities. Read the full and complete account of these given in to-day's TIMES, taken from the Toronto papers up to Saturday, Feb. 26.

Settling It.

"Privy" Conn, Higgins and his marionettes are said to be disputing the right of each other to the appellation of being the boss choseal fabricators on the continent. The existing relations are consequently becoming somewhat strained.

STILL ONE AHEAD.

The Toronto Globe of Saturday morning, Feb. 26th, four clear days after the day of polling, said: "No news came to hand yesterday disturbing the lists of elections as announced in the Globe, though the Conservatives, in order to cover up their retreat from their ridiculous boastings, have gone into the business of "claiming" everything under the sun. The list still stands as yesterday:

Opposition	102
Ministerialists	101
Independent	1
Elections yet to be held	11
	215

We invite attention to an article which will be found on our eigth page, from L'Etendard, the recognized organ of those Nationalists who still consider themselves as Conservatives. They are, according to their own declarations and actions, "not Ministerialists." We are, therefore, clearly within our right when we classify these among the Opposition, and there they will remain unless and until they give some evidence that they wish to rejoin the party which they have scouted and condemned in terms quite as strong as any ever employed by the Globe."

CANTING HYPOCRISY.

To THE EDITOR OF THE TIMES:

SIR,—Doctor Johnson defines patriotism to be "the last refuge of a scoundrel." If the blatant patriotism of his day deserved a stricture so severe, how would he have characterized men who, in season and out of season, are forever parading their zeal for public morality, with anything but clean hands? Witness Honest John's motion in the House, the preamble being for the better observance of the Lord's day, etc. How forward to intermeddle when a reputation for piety can be got so very cheaply, is the aforesaid Honest John. Does he or does he not know, that the municipalities have the power to regulate all such things within themselves. I often wonder how much real sincerity there is in these men who seem so devout, so zealous of any violation, as they deem it, of the Lord's day. It is enough for the House to know that in this ultima thule of western progress there are hundreds of men who will not suffer any dictation as to how they shall spend any one day in the week.

What a farcical throwing of dust for a minister to waste the time of the House, and consequently the money of the province in pandering to the old maidism and school-girlism of his constituency, as if there were not forsooth a thousand grievances urgently demanding redress with an empty treasury, provincial bankruptcy, our roads in a most deplorable state, worse to-day that the history of the province has ever shown, with bridges impassable, ruin and wreck on every road and trail in the province, with the laws of debtor and creditor in such a state that they are but a shield and a protection to the swindler and the dishonest, with the whole machinery of the laws in fact in such an unsatisfactory state that it is no infrequent occurrence to be mulcted without any satisfaction to either.

Again, look at the greed of syndicate stock owners, allowed to depasture the ranges and eat out every acre of pasture in the country, so that they may count their herds by tens of thousands. The cruel avarice of these men forbids their making provision for their too numerous herds; hence in a severe winter like the present the cattle die in thousands to feed the wolf and the coyote, so that to satisfy the cupidity of a few the pasture is destroyed with about one-tenth of the beneficial results that under a different state of things would be obtained. I would ask, does not this state of things demand wise legislation. But can we hope for it under the regime of men wrapt and engarbed in a canting hypocrisy; men all too keenly alive to the pecuniary advantage of land grabs and town lot sections, too busy forestalling executive secrets so that they may become rich; men who pretend to deem it sin in Tom or Harry taking a glass of beer on Sunday, but who have unblushingly wasted the money of the province under the pretence of road making, etc., in giving bonuses for the support and reward of their political pets. I reiterate, we cannot expect wise legislation from such a clique—a clique who seem to take their inspiration from some of the women and many of the school girls of our different sections. Honest John's sack is getting nearly empty of the dust he has been throwing in our eyes. Let him beware, for some men still have their eyes open and know him but too well. JUNIUS.

THE MILITIA QUESTION.

To THE EDITOR OF THE TIMES:

SIR—Recently much has been assigned as the reason of the unpopularity of our Militia. I am sorry to see that several letters, purporting to emanate from either present or past members of that body, couched in uncomplimentary language, maligning their officers and making various minor charges, which if they had been made at the proper time, would undoubtedly have been remedied, at least so far as lay in the power of the officers. A member who does not scruple to make public such petty complaints is invariably one who seldom attends to drill, and when he does he is continually grumbling, and charging his comrades or the officers with errors made by his own want of knowledge or awkwardness, for the well being of their respective corps. The names of such men are best shown on the rolls as past members. One writer gives for example the older provinces. My experience in trying to recruit our present strength is that there is a difference between the provinces, inasmuch as no other province has the Chinese question to deal with. It is not unusual to hear the young men say they will not join to protect the Chinamen against their own race. It is imperative that some inducement should be given to those joining the ranks, as it is their services are entirely ignored. I understand several appointments will shortly be at the disposal of the Government on the new Dry Dock; why should not the eligible members of the Militia have the first claim on these vacancies, as it is truly a military work?

A VOICE FROM THE RANKS.

The Result.

The result of the election in the city will be known in an hour or two after the close of the poll at 5 p. m. If not very close, the decision will scarcely be reversed by the vote of the district.

ALASKA'S BOUNDARY.

An Intimation Question of Vast Importance.

A Boundary Commission Likely to be Appointed.

One of the international questions between Canada and the United States says the Winnipeg Manitoban, which will shortly come up for settlement is that of the Alaska boundary. It is probable that the American government will in the near future propose the appointment of a joint commission for the purpose. The President in his recent message to Congress intimated this course would be taken. The only definition of the boundary now in existence is to be found, it is said, in a treaty made between

RUSSIA AND ENGLAND

in 1825, when Russia owned Alaska. According to this instrument the division between Canada and Alaska begins on the Arctic sea and runs due south to a point near Mount St. Elias, nine marine miles from the Pacific. Then it bears eastwardly, and is to follow the summit of the coast range to its intersection with a line drawn due east from the southern extremity of Prince of Wales Island to the centre of Portland Channel. Where the coast range is more than three leagues from the shore the line is to leave the mountains and keep just that distance from the sea. The meaning of all this is that the United States hold as part of Alaska 500 miles, 3 leagues deep, of the Northern Pacific coast. The Americans thus have a long stretch of territory immediately in front of the northern part of British Columbia, commanding the entrances to all the rivers and including all the islands. It is not until Queen Charlotte Islands are reached from the north that the

BRITISH COLUMBIA COAST LINE

commences. For a long time it was believed that a more accurate definition of the boundary would not be necessary. Northern British Columbia and Eastern Alaska were unknown territories. They were supposed to contain no wealth, and it was believed that international difficulties so near the Pole could not possibly arise. Moreover, the marking of the boundary is an expensive affair, and it was held that the five or six millions of dollars the work would cost would do far more good moving through the ordinary channels of commerce than distributed among the canyons of the Pacific. But within the past few years the country has been explored, and it has been found to be rich in minerals, particularly in gold. Miners have gone in great numbers, and the Americans are working very vigorously and without hindrance on what, according to the strict letter of the treaty, is the Canadian side of the border. It is not, however, so much with a view to settling the question of the ownership of the mines that the United States authorities are anxious to secure of the boundary. The treaty line it has been observed, terminates at a point drawn east from the southern extremity of Prince of Wales Island. Hitherto it has been understood that that line strikes the centre of Portland Channel. But the Americans now claim that Prince of Wales Island extends several miles further south than the maps indicate, and that as a result the easterly line drawn from that southerly extremity of the island gives them complete control of the channel, and in addition an interesting slice of what has heretofore been regarded as British Columbia and two small but well-wooded islands. This is the point in the Alaska boundary case.

Britain has not heretofore been remarkably successful in the adjustment of boundary disputes with the United States. The rule followed has generally been to let the Americans have what they wanted. But it is to be hoped that it has now been recognized that what is considered worth contending for by the United States is worth keeping. As a mere matter of sentiment in this affair it would not be amiss to insist on our rights.

Charge of the "Specials."

The arrival of the "specials" at Vancouver has given rise to poetic thoughts as well as to feelings of anger and resentment. A local Tennyson, having bestraddled his Pegasus, has ridden to the top of Parnassus, and committed the following:

Half a League! Half a League!
Half a League onward!
All in the peaceful city
Walked the VICTORIA specials.
Forward, Reyerafr reiel!
March to the City Hall he said,
In the Terminal City
Walked the brave specials.

Forward the blue coat brigade
Was there a man dismay'd?
Not, though the specials knew
The Government had blundered;
Theirs not to make reply;
Theirs not to reason why;
Theirs but to loaf and cry
Give us more Vancouver pie,
The noble specials!

The pig-tail camp to the right of them!
The C. P. R. to the left of them!
Vancouver to the front of them!
All peaceful and calm!
Stormed at by hiss and yell!
Boldly they walked and well,
Into Water street pell-mell
Walked the gallant specials.

Flashed all their brass buttons bare!
Flashed as they turned in air!
Withering the small boy there:
Charging on the frosty air!
While all VICTORIA wondered,
Smelling of tobacco smoke!
Right through the line they broke!
News-boy and boot-black shout!
In a wild hurrah! [loots!
See the whiskey soaks! the red nose gal-
The VICTORIA specials!

Cordova street to the right of them!
Yacong Chong's wash house to the left of them!
A Tyhee Chinaman leading on!
They had come to rest a while.
Mosa-backs and fossils
Sent here by VICTORIANS!
To show their spite and malice.
When will their glory fade?
Oh, the vile charge they made!
While all China wondered,
Scorn the charge they made!
Fifty VICTORIA's legate!
And watch the noble specials.

A Lie Nailed.

The Colonist this morning says:

"No Toronto papers come through since the day of election."

A gentleman, well known in Victoria and vicinity, arrived from the east on Saturday. To his kindness and courtesy THE TIMES is indebted for copies of the Toronto Mail and Globe of Saturday, 26th February, and Toronto Tribune of the 25th. That gentleman was Captain Larkin, the well known Canadian contractor. The Colonist is as unreliable as the weather. It always lies. In short, the truth is not in it, or a virtue possessed by those connected with it.

A WELL DESERVED REBUKE.

To THE EDITOR OF THE TIMES:

SIR,—I was reading that brutum fulmen of Victoria, i. e., the Colonist, of Thursday morning, and in the first three lines of the first column of page two, I find these elegant and interesting words "For supreme ignorance combined with sheer stupidity commend us to the editor of THE TIMES; and, sir, being an Englishman and a Conservative, I chuckled with delight to find that, although so far from home, I was yet so near to such conserved streaklightning, and I may say liberally conserved, because I remember that those words, or words very like them, were put into a leading article of a Liberal English paper some time last year, and that the editor of said paper had no use for a chair many a day thereafter. I have been taught to believe that the press is a power in the land for the good, and the enlightenment of all. It is galling to find the so-called Conservative organ using such scurrilous saying, which even low class radical papers would not do. One could pardon the syntax or the dullness of the Colonist's articles, but one does like to see the dignity of one's party upheld in a gentlemanly way.

A CONSERVATIVE.

Victoria, March 4, 1887.

THE LAST SHOT.

Conservative Meeting in the Victoria Saturday Night.

Addresses by Messrs. Baker, Shakespeare and Others.

Saturday nights meeting was a signal success, as well as a conspicuous failure. It depends altogether from which side you look at the panorama. The meeting was unquestionably successful in respect to the number and respectability of the audience, the gentlemanly appearance of the minstrels on the platform, the magnificent physiques and original sayings of the two end men, as well as in regard to the order and decorum observed by those present while undergoing the inflictions of bad speeches badly spoken. On the other hand it was a lamentable and a painful failure in respect to the enthusiasm evoked or the evidences of support to be expected, as indicated by the applause given. Mr. Baker spoke first, and did fairly well, with the exception that there was too much Crow and a little excess of nautical knowledge, master mariner's experience, &c. The small gentleman actually swelled with pomposity when dealing with the personal phase of the question, and looked every inch a lord high admiral pacing the deck of his flagship after issuing an order to hang a traitor at the yard arm. Noah, the missing link between ante and post-bellum days, did not arise and shine with his usual brilliancy. He was weak, vapid, commonplace, and for want of something truthful to say falsified with a pertinacity unworthy a follower of the meek and lowly — Macdonald. Shakespeare declared that the Liberals when in power from 1873 to 1878, increased the national debt $40,000,000. Noah, we believe, is a Sunday-school teacher, and knows—assuming that he knows anything at all—that to deceive intentionally while apparently uttering a truth, is equally as wrong and sinful as wilful falsehood. We repeat, then, that Noah falsified, and with malice aforethought, when he sought to convey the impression that the McKenzie administration was responsible for an increase of $40,000,000 in the national debt. He would still have been lying had he mentioned quarter that sum. Colonel Baker and Mr. Turner, in brief speeches, told nothing new and told it well. Corney Booth repeated his speech of twenty years ago, but so long a time has elapsed since he last recited it that he halted painfully a couple of times. Nevertheless Corney did very well, and closed by telling the audience to vote for whoever they liked—he was not there to advise them.

Theodore Davie was hissed repeatedly, and in strange contrast Willis Bond was cheered to the echo. Willis made a much better speech than Theodore, and accomplished more good for the candidates. He has more weight, physically, mentally and forensically than the halting, stuttering fellow who so often attempts to direct public thought in Victoria. The appearance of Hon. T. B. Humphreys, during Bond's exordium, was the signal for a tumultuous shout, during which two-thirds of the audience stood up and waved their hats and hands in the air and joined in the applause. The meeting shortly afterwards ended in tumult and disorder, the chairman vacating his seat without the customary vote of thanks and his right and left supporters vamoosing the ranche in extraordinary haste. Humphreys had put the minstrels to flight, and the end men were the only two who had the courage to stand their ground. Those present were about one-third in favor of Baker and Shakespeare, and two-thirds for Humphreys and the other opposition candidates. If the result of the meeting is a presage of the vote to day, the bumptious Baker and the saponaceous Shakespeare will be buried politically beyond all hope of resurrection.

CAPT. MCCALLUM,

An Owner of Real Estate in the City and in the Country.

Capt. McCallum is the owner of one and a quarter acres of land adjoining the new residence of Dr. Davie, near Government House.

Two city lots in Spring Ridge.

One city lot in James Bay.

Also, has the Crown grant title for 160 acres in the Cowichan District, on which is a cottage, stable and out-buildings.

The Boss Ananias.

The most accomplished fabricator on the Continent is the Colonist. In its special issue of to-day it states that no paper published since the elections have come through. This is on a par with its many other assertions regarding election returns. In short, it is a falsehood of the vilest type, and nailed on the spot. The Globe, Mail and Tribune of the 25th and 26th February are in the hands of Mr. Frank Campbell, where the Ananiases of the Colonist can see them. Verily, what liars these fellows be anyhow.

Did Not Connect.

The Colonist's poney and canoe express failed to connect on this trip. Bold assertions unsupported by returns or evidence will avail ourcontemporary nothing. The route of the boodle brigade in the east is complete — overwhelming. Sir John must go!

TO-DAY'S CABLE NEWS.

A Budget of Interesting News from England and the Continent.

Beecher Eulogized--Revolutionists Shot--Death of an U. S. Consul.

DEMANDS THEIR RELEASE.

SOFIA, March 7.—Baron Thielmann, German Consul-General, on behalf of Russia, has demanded the release of six rebels, two of whom have already been shot. The French Consul-General has complained that Karavaloff and Tsanoff were maltreated by the government. The government denies the charge on admission of the rebels themselves. The Porte has advised the government to deal leniently with the rebels.

DECLINES THE HONOR.

PARIS, March 7.—Figaro of Paris says that on the plea of ill-health Magr. Pampollo De Lindiro of Madrid has declined the papal secretaryship made vacant by the death of Cardinal Jacobini.

TERRORS OF NICE.

NICE, March 7.—In consequence of the panic caused by the recent earthquakes here hotel keepers are selling out at a great sacrifice. Many of the inhabitants are still camping out.

JAS. GORDON BENNETT.

LONDON, March 6.—Mr. James Gordon Bennett's yacht, Tamana, has arrived at Penang. Bennett is on board.

EULOGIZING BEECHER.

LONDON, March 7.—Rev. Mr. Parker, in his sermon this evening, eulogized Beecher. He expressed the profound sympathy of himself and his hearers with the afflicted pastor.

REVOLUTIONISTS SHOT.

RUSTCHUK, March 7.—Nine officers and civilians, concerned in the recent revolt, were shot here this morning. The soldiers will be tried to-morrow.

SHIPPING NEWS.

LONDON, March 7.—The steamship La Bourgogne, Captain Franquel, from New York, Feb. 26th, arrived at Havre to-day.

A CONSUL DEAD.

CONSTANTINOPLE, March 6.—Mr. G. Harris Heap, of the United States Consulate, died this morning.

A DYNAMITE EXPLOSION.

PARIS, March 6.—It is semi-officially denied that General Boulanger intends to visit the north east frontier.

A dynamite cartridge was exploded in an iron foundry at Bessiges to-day by some miscreant. The building was badly damaged. No arrests have been made.

From Berlin.

BERLIN, March 7.—Much anxiety is felt here whether or not Russia will allow the execution of the Bulgarian conspirators to pass unnoticed.

A deficit will be caused in the budget by the operation of the Septennate law which will be covered by a fresh loan. All projects for fresh taxation are postponed, and the session of the Reichstag will probably terminate in two months.

The Zeitung warns Russia that even German patience to its neighbor has limits and says if Russia compels Germany to take to account the Franco-Russian agreement let her beware lest she may herself are to consider as hostile Germany.

THE GREAT BEECHER

Slowly Sinking, but Death Not Just yet Expected.

NEW YORK, March 7.—It was a weary night that the members of the Beecher household passed last night. One by one they would silently go in and out of the death chamber taking turns at the dreary night vigil. Dr. Searle was at his post of duty without intermission until nearly 6 o'clock, when he retired to his home. Mrs. Beecher had kept watch over the sick man most of the night fearing he might pass away in her absence. She did however take a few hours rest on a couch in a room adjoining that where the sufferer lay. At 6 o'clock, when Dr. Searle went home, this bulletin was issued: "Mr. Beecher has been gradually failing during the night. His death is not, however, anticipated at present."

All day Sunday and until midnight an officer on duty at the door of the house was kept busy answering questions of friends and strangers. For hours people stood in the damp weather looking at the house, and it was not until the lights in the windows were lowered that the crowd was entirely dispersed. Even as late as 1 o'clock persons climbed up the steps and tried to read the last bulletin. Most of the flowers that were sent to the house came from the members of his congregation. Major Pond was in the house most of the day. He told the circumstances connected with Beecher's daily occupation just previous to the attack with considerable feeling. It was that Beecher on Tuesday last told him how strong he felt and how glad he was that he would be able to complete his book in time for the publishers, and what pleasure he found in writing the work. The coming September it was intended to give a grand celebration in honor of Beecher's fifty years in the ministry and first half century of his married life, and fortieth year of his Plymouth Church ministry, at Brooklyn. This morning from just before daylight there was collected a crowd of people on the sidewalk in front of Beecher's residence eagerly scanning latest bulletins.

Very Latest.

NEW YORK, 10:30 a. m., March 7.—There is no change in Mr. Beecher's condition and there are no reasons to believe that a fatal issue will occur to-day.

The New Speaker.

It is understood that Desire Girouard, J. C., D. C. L., member elect for Jacques Cartier, has been selected by the government as speaker for the next Parliament. He represents Jacques Cartier, and has held a seat in the Commons since 1882. He is known principally as a public man for his advocacy of the bill legalizing marriage with a deceased wife's sister. He has always been a strong Conservative. There is no mistaking his classification.

Generally Reprobated.

The effect of the scandalous attack by the Colonist on Mr. Humphreys was generally reprobated by respectable citizens. Should Mr. Humphreys be elected, it will in a large measure be because of the scurrilous opposition of our morning contemporary.

OUR DEFENCES.

Five Men-of-War Dispatched to Esquimalt Station.

CHICAGO, March 6.—The Times Ottawa special says the people of British Columbia are becoming alarmed at the unprotected position of that coast, in view of which the Legislature of the province has passed a resolution calling the attention of the Dominion government to the fact, and urging that immediate steps be taken to give them better security in the event of England being driven into war with any other power. News has also been received here that the British government has dispatched five additional war vessels to the North Pacific station, including the Pelican, Wild Swan, Triumph, and two gunboats. This is being done for the protection of the new dry dock and the naval stores at Esquimalt.

ANOTHER RAILWAY BILL.

$15,000,000 to be Demanded by the C. P. Railway.

CHICAGO, March 7.—The Inter-Ocean's Ottawa special says that considerable surprise was caused a few days ago by the announcement that Sir Charles Tupper, minister of finance, intended asking the government at next session for a further grant of $15,000,000 for the Canadian Pacific Railway, in lieu of the disallowance of the privileges held by the Company in Manitoba and the Northwest territories. Coincident with this announcement is another discovery, which still further mystified the commercial public, and consisted in a decrease of the traffic returns issued by the company compared with the corresponding period of last year. The following week a further decrease was bulletined. Peculiar significance is attached to these facts, as the weeks for which the decrease is shown had been the busiest weeks for passenger traffic that had been experienced for years. It was also significant that the first decrease in the receipts was shown a few days after the general elections, when the government, one of whose chief planks had been the construction of the Canadian Pacific, had been sustained. The construction of the line had been pushed forward in face of violent opposition, and the country had been mortgaged for expenses connected therewith in one way or another to the tune of $10,400,000, besides which enormous land grants were made through the territories and an allowance of privileges granted, which is now to be purchased. The impression is that the company wish to throw the line into the government's hands; that consequently the receipts are being reduced more within the true figures, so as to furnish an excuse for saying that it does not pay, and thus give the company an opportunity of leaving the road which the government has made it responsible for, and then retire gracefully.

Snowstorms in the East.

MONTREAL, March 6.—It has been snowing hard here all day. The Canadian Pacific train, due this morning, is snowed up between here and Ottawa. The westward bound train on the Grand Trunk Railway is also snowed up near St. Annes, a short distance west of here. The American trains arrived an hour behind. The line is clear between here and Quebec.

New Wire Completed.

PORT COSTA, Cal., March 6.—The W. U. Telegraph Co. successfully laid their own cable between here and Benicia to-day, under the direction of Mr. Davis, superintendent of telegraph construction. The cable completed the copper wire constructed between San Francisco and Chicago by the Western Union, and which is the first ever constructed across the continent. The new wire will be worked by Wheatstone's automatic system.

A Mexican Outrage.

LOS ANGELES, Cala., March 7.—General Miles has received a telegram from Captain Lawton saying his troops were encamped near Nogales but anticipated no trouble. The Mexican authorities regret the outrage and have arrested all but one offender and turned them over to the American officers.

Cannot Go On.

KINGSTON, Feb. 25.—Sir Richard Cartwright arrived last night. He says that all the Nationalists in Quebec are pledge to support the Liberal party, and consequently Sir John Macdonald cannot have a working majority in the House.

An Unhappy Family.

MONTREAL, Feb. 25.—The Gazette and the Tory press still shout 40 when the House meets. They hint pretty strongly that Sir John will find some balsam for some who are now against him. The Chaplenaites are secretly pleased and hardly disguise their joy over Sir Hector's narrow escape, and his Caron's. They boast that "their chief" will now bring Sir John and the Cabinet to his feet and give him what he demands, and his first demand will be the shelving of Sir Hector as leader of the French Conservatives, his resignation to a minor seat in the Cabinet and the "bouncing" of Caron, whom he detests. If these are refused, then Sir John will have music to which he will not care perhaps to dance. Chapleau, they also say will never serve in a minor office to Tupper.

Will Sue for Slander.

The following telegraphic correspondence with the Liberal "whip" explains itself:

"Trow, M. P., Stratford:

"OTTAWA, Feb. 24th.

"Ottawa Citizen classifies you as a government supporter. How is this?"

To this the following answer has been received:

"STRATFORD, Feb. 24th.

"The government must be short of supporters. My political history is clear, and I see no reason for changing. Shall sue the Citizen for slander.

"JAS. TROW."

NEITHER PARTY CAN CLAIM A VICTORY.

The following, which appears in the leading column of the Toronto Mail of the 26th, is worthy a careful perusal. It will be observed that the Mail does not claim a majority for either party. Its reference to the position to be taken by the contending factions in Quebec is specially interesting at this juncture. Sir JOHN evidently has a serious problem on hand to solve as to where his boasted majority of 40 is to come from:

"The Globe is the only paper in the country that we know of which asserts that there is a majority for Mr. BLAKE. On the other hand, the Conservative journals are not justified in claiming the Ultramontane members as Government supporters. The Ultramontanes call themselves Conservatives and will support the Government on two issues, but on a general question of want of confidence they declared in their election addresses, and we are bound to believe them, that they should vote against the Government. Moreover, the Government put up Bleu candidates against the Ultramontanes, eight of whom have been elected; and it is rather a bold thing to hold that a man who says he is opposed to Sir JOHN on every question but two, and whom Sir JOHN has tried to defeat, IS A TRUSTWORTHY TORY. The Ultramontanes elected to the Quebec Assembly defeated the TAILLON Administration, though the Conservative press maintained up to the last that they would be found on this side; and the Ultramontanes returned on Tuesday will show no mercy to Sir John. The Mail has endeavored, regardless of all other considerations, to give the public the truth; and if our figures differ from those of the party journals, the explanation is that the party journals are trying to pull up the courage of their adherents by a process of make-believe. * * *

The returns from Quebec show that the Government and its advisers were in the dark as to the strength and depth of the RIEL agitation. During the local campaign in that province, the Ministerial press insisted that Dr. Ross would have a majority of at least 25. Yet he had no majority at all, and, as a sequel showed, the Bleu party was left utterly helpless. Mr. MERCIER meets the House in a few days, and his majority will probably not be less than fifteen, members elected to support Dr. Ross flocking to the winning side. When the Dominion campaign opened, the Government journals were just as sanguine. On February 12th, only ten days before the polling, La Minerve was absolutely certain that the province would give a Conservative majority of fifteen; and in his speech to the manufacturers in this city the Premier expressed himself as confident of a majority there, though he did not state its dimensions. The explanation of the Government's blindness is probably to be found, first, in the fact that men in office seldom hear the actual truth; and secondly, in the enormous increase in the number of voters in Quebec through the lowering of the franchise, which let in an element largely Reilite and nativist, of which Ministers apparently took no account. In the Quebec district the Government was utterly routed, a fact which goes to confirm the Ultramontane report that Cardinal TASCHEREAU is not well-disposed towards Sir JOHN. Writing privately a month ago, a Quebec correspondent of this journal, who is in a position to know, stated that the Church did not care which side won, provided the Quebec vote continued to hold the balance of power; and this view is borne out by the results. The Church can not only put out Sir JOHN, who has seventeen Bleus in his retinue, but she can destroy Mr. BLAKE, who is supported by eight Ultramontanes and about twenty-five Rouges, many of them elected by Nationalist votes. Quebec, in short, holds the key of the position, and will no doubt pursue her historic policy. Nous avons l'avantage, profitons-en.

THE CONSERVATIVE NATIONALISTS.

[From L'Etendard (Con. Nat. organ) Feb. 24.]

La Minerve returns for Quebec are: 38 Conservatives. It says Conservatives! Not Ministerialists; that is wise! And 27 Liberals!

But who are they who make up these 38 Conservatives in La Minerve's list? One could scarcely believe it. There is M. Mdesjardins, who said of his chief:—"The old firebrand who began his political career in the glare of the burning Parliament House in 1849, is about to close it behind the gallows at Regina."

There is M. Girouard, who cried out against the treason of the Ministerial leaders, and insisted on the necessity of overthrowing them at any cost. Then there is M. Bergeron, of Beauharnois, M. Desaulniers, of Maskinonge!

Messrs. Coursol, Girouard, Bergeron, Desjardins, authors of the Champ-de-Mars resolutions! These members whom La Minerve has not ceased to brand as Liberal Rouges, rebels, authors of revolutionary shamelessness! And we know not how much else

What boxes on the ear, what kicks, what insults have not La Minerve and its masters themselves received from these excellent Conservatives of to-day!

* * * * * *

La Minerve has been at pains to forget that MM. Bergeron, Desjardins, Coursol, Gigault, Dupont, Girouard, Amyot, Gaudet, Desaulniers, etc., while announcing themselves Conservatives, have been careful to add "BUT NOT MINISTERIALISTS."

What can that mean then if not that they are supporters of the Ministry?

There are some other Canservatives claimed by La Minerve, such as MM. Labelle, member for Richelieu; Guilbault, member for Joliette; McMillan, member for Vaudreuil; and more than all the others, Desaulniers, of St. Maurice, who succeeded in getting themselves elected only by squarely avowing themselves Nationalists, and emphatically condemning the chief acts of Sir John's policy.

The latter gentleman was also at the head of the organization that at Yamachiche burned Sir John and his colleagues in effigy. M. Frans. Desaulniers had even organized a second roasting, which did not take place, probably because from the moment the first word of them reached us, L'Etendard strongly condemned such tactics.

Is it really possible to find anything more grotesque than this pœan-singing of La Minerve's, announcing the election of all these men, chosen for their adhesion to ultra Nationalist platforms, as unprecedented triumphs in honor of its masters whom all these Nationalist platforms have condemned and even insulted?

That La Minerve has room for triumphs in the majorities obtained by its masters in Ontario and Nova Scotia by heating to whiteness Orange fanaticism and prejudiced Protestants; that it scatters broadcast guarantees of patronage, the reward of sacrificing the French-Canadian cause we frankly admit.

In fact what else does La Minerve feel the need of? Given a Ministerial majority that will assure it and its masters of having the public treasury to rob, what does it matter to it whether that majority was made up of Turks or Chinese?

But La Minerve has well said that it will not succeed in changing the conspicuous fact that a large majority of the French counties have recorded their condemnation of the policy of its masters.

A COWARD'S VICTORY.

With the exception of Kingston, says the Globe of the 26th, where Sir JOHN MACDONALD'S victory was purchased, and Peel, where Mr. FLEMING was defeated in consequence of the distress among some former supporters, the employees of a manufacturing establishment which had been shut down for months, the TUPPER party are indebted to the Gerrymander for every gain made in Ontario. And it was only by their gains in Ontario that they were saved from an overwhelming defeat.

West Huron,
East Bruce,
North Grey,
East Lambton,
West Middlesex,
South Norfolk,
South Ontario,
South Wentworth,
North Ontario.

—all were lost to the Liberals in consequence of the shameful mutilation of 1882. The loss of these seats weakens the Liberals by eighteen on a division. This is more than the whole Tory majority will be after election is held, even if they carry every seat yet undecided, and every effort to increase their strength is exhausted. They are claiming a coward's victory. They glory in having whipped a bound opponent.

The wrong and fraud is plain before the eyes of the people. It will be useless for the Conservative leaders to attempt longer to hide the true character of the Gerrymander. It cannot be denied that the Government of Canada is not a Government elected by the people, but the product of a scandalous misuse of power that no other country would tolerate. God help poor Canada!

Catarrh, Catarrhal Deafness and Hay Fever.

Sufferers are not generally aware that these diseases are contagious, or that they are due to the presence of living parasites in the lining membrane of the nose and eustachian tubes. Microscopic research, however, has proved this to be a fact, and the result is that a simple remedy has been formulated whereby catarrh, catarrhal deafness and hay fever are cured in from one to three simple applications made at home. A pamphlet explaining this new treatment is sent free on receipt of stamp, by A. H. Dixon & Son, 305 King street West, Toronto, Canada.—Christian Standard.

Dominion Elections.

To the Electors of Vancouver Island District for the House of Commons.

GENTLEMEN,—

I beg to announce myself as a candidate at the ensuing Dominion Election for the representation of your important district in the Parliament of Canada.

I again solicit your confidence as a firm supporter of the Liberal Conservative party, whose wise policy has raised the Dominion of Canada to her present exalted position.

I will hold public meetings wherever I find it possible to do so, of which due notice will be given and at which I will give an account of my stewardship during the four years that I have had the honor of representing you in the House of Commons.

I have the honor to be,
Gentlemen,
Yours truly,
D. W. GORDON.

DURING WAR TIMES.

HOW THE SOUTHERN PEOPLE MANAGED VARIOUS DOMESTIC AFFAIRS.

Bothered About Threshing Wheat—A Woman's Way—Primitive Mills for Crushing Sugar Cane—Making "Brown" Sugar—Home Made Head Wear—Fans.

All planters were required by the Confederate government a tax or tithe of one-tenth of all the grain or provisions that was grown in the south, each town or city having its granary where was carried the tenth of grain, bacon, rice, syrup and so on to be used for the support of our army. In southern Alabama the cultivating of the cereals was a rare thing before the war. I think the same will apply to most of the interior southern states. But the planters began in earnest to grow corn, wheat, oats, rye and peas. All moist places that had hitherto been thought fit for naught were put into rice and sugar cane patches, and were found to yield plentifully. Many farmers were surprised at the great yield of wheat. I remember hearing one man who lived in Troy, Alabama, tell of highly fertilizing one acre of common pine upland as a trial. The result was seventy-five bushels of wheat. Another planter near Glennville, Alabama, cut fifty bushels of wheat from one acre he had enriched.

Of course there was some bother about threshing the wheat. While some could "thrash" and "fan" at their gin houses, there were those who would bide the time for the traveling thresher to come around. Others whose sowing and reaping was on a small scale would maul the wheat out with flails of their own make. One day we went to see the threshing arrangement one woman, whose husband and sons were in the army, had devised. We found the room carpeted with sheets and tapestried with coverlets, and the woman seated in a chair, with a common sized barrel before her. A sheaf of wheat was in her hands and she was pounding the grains of wheat out over the barrel. She would in this primitive way flail as much as two or three bushels and then spread the sheets on the ground in the open air, the wheat being poured on in a continuous stream. The wind acted as the great fan and carried the chaff lightly away. The wheat being ground at some flouring mill would last her quite a while. When used up the same rude flailing would be resorted to. Hundreds during the war threshed in the same primitive manner.

Mills had also to be erected for crushing the juice from the sugar cane. Wooden cylinders were almost universally used, as those of iron were scarcely obtainable during the war. While wooden cylinders were not satisfactory, as all the juice of the cane could not be thoroughly pressed from the crushed cane, the farmers cheered themselves with the idea that there was no great loss, as the swine could draw from it the leavings. The furnaces for syrup and sugar boiling were raised of rocks, if bricks were not convenient, though many small brickyards were put in operation during the four years of the war. Long wooden troughs, hollowed from trees, were also indispensable for pouring the syrup from the boilers to cool. The syrup was thick and clear. The sugar was unavoidably brown, as there was no means in the great stress of the times of clarifying it. I have seen the planters work long smooth oak splits, cut thin from the top to the bottom of the barrel filled with the home made sugar, to aid the dripping and to better free the sugar from moisture. There was a pensive and gratified delight among the planters when they had been successful in making their sugar very light and dry, and it not infrequently happened that on a neighbor calling the first thing after the conventional greeting would be to bring forth a small package of his make of sugar wrapped in brown paper. Another industry of the south that the exigency of the times called up was that of pottery, which if not food and clothing, was quite serviceable. Of course the earthenware then produced was coarse and brown, the enamel with which it was glazed would have caused a smile of disdain, perhaps, from the ancient Etruscans, but ours was a time of necessity, and there were events of more moment to occupy the thoughts than worry over the rough glazed earthenware. There being no way of getting hats or bonnets, and those we had at the beginning of the war becoming too much worn for further renovating, other expedients for the head wear had to be devised, and it was surprising the variety of material that could be used for hats, caps and bonnets.

There was palmetto, wheat and oat straw and corn husks. Even the long leaved pines, when neatly braided, were not to be scorned. We soon became quite skilled in the the varied designs of palmetto and straw braidings, which besides making hats, was also used for making baskets, fans and mats. Hats and caps were made of cloth. The "bonnet squash," known by some as the "Spanish dishrag," was grown by some for making bonnets and hats. They were really beautiful, appearing as a network of gossamer. There were those who would make the frame of the bonnet, then cover with the down and small white feathers of the goose. Larger feathers were used for the trimmings, and they were by no means rustic looking. We also gleaned a knowledge of the "willow wickerwork," and baskets of many shapes and sizes went forth of our make. A neighbor, out of the willow twigs, wove the body for her babe's carriage. We soon learned to make fans of the wing feathers of the geese. When the feathers were mature we would pluck them, being very careful in plucking to string the feathers one by one as they were taken out. All the right wing feathers were placed on one string and the left wing feathers on another string, so that when we arranged the feathers for making the fan each feather could be placed in its proper place and would have the fitting curve. We soon became quite skilled in the art of making fans. Beside those for home use we made and sold in the city of Eufaula many fans for as much as $10 and $15 apiece. I made one for my mother of the dark olive-green feathers of the peafowl. The handle I covered with a piece of dark-green silk velvet. On either side where I had joined the handle and feathers I placed a rosette made of the small green and blue variegated feathers that adorn the neck and breast of the peafowl.—Mrs. P. A. Hayne in Philadelphia Times.

Hygienic Treatment of Disease.

A great advantage in the hygienic treatment of disease is that it does not, or at least need not, interfere with sound and experience proved modes of treatment of a medicinal kind. The scientific physician finds, in fact, that there is always a consistent plan for combining the medical and hygienic systems. He sees that the two systems are one; he sees, further, that the mere medicinal plan without the hygienic is in all cases imperfect and in some cases worse than imperfect. The practical details of hygienic medicine in relation to the treatment of disease have, however, yet to be wrought out more fully. This will be sure work, but necessarily slow, because it is hard to give up old friendships in dogmatism, while to effect a cure in a sick man by fresh air alone, or diet, is infinitely less satisfactory to the public than to assume to effect the same cure even by a bread pill.—Dr. Richardson in Popular Science Monthly.

Geronimo in Captivity.

To all appearances neither Geronimo nor any of his band entertain the belief that fate has anything unpleasant in store for them. They are quartered in four big tents at San Antonio, and never lived so well in their lives as they have since their capture. When they arrived in Texas the squaws were attired in full evening costume, except as to the legs, upon which they wore leather leggings, without which their flesh would have been torn to ribbons in their flight. The bucks wore a bit of cloth that looked like a porous plaster on their chests, a breech cloth and leggings; none of them wore head gear. Their luxuriant growth of inky black hair seems quite sufficient to protect them from ill effects of sunshine or storm. Since their arrival they have been togged out in most gorgeous style.

Geronimo wore a pair of cow hide boots, into which his white cotton drawers were tucked; his copper colored body was covered with a calico shirt. He and his followers always wear their shirts Chinese fashion, and no matter what else they may wear, they never fail to don the breech cloth, and in such manner that it will show beneath the shirt. Around his neck was a horsehair chain, and suspended to it was a silver crescent. In order to show his visitors that he did not carry all his clothes on his back he disappeared for a few moments within his tent; when he emerged he wore a short sack coat buttoned up to the chin with three different kinds of buttons, and a broad brimmed felt hat. He looked prouder than he had before, he accepted a silver dollar with a yard-wide smile, and showed that he was not ungrateful by making his visitors a present at least of equal value. He also shook hands at short intervals.—Chicago Herald.

The Millionaires of New York.

And they do extraordinary things.

On the one hand we find a man presenting a near relative with a residence and fixtures that cost in cash $750,000. We hear of a man laying upon the pillow of his sister's new born baby $10,000 in United States bonds as a birthday gift, and again a Coal-oil Johnny rolling "ike a scroll together, tangible evidence of $1,000,000, in heavy interest bearing bonds, and tossing them into the lap of a female friend. We are told of a modest millionaire calling upon his pastor, on a bright New Year's morning, and handing him a check drawn to bearer for the princely sum of $100,000, to be distributed according to the clergyman's idea among the poor and needy.

In this great city where one family's wealth aggregates $300,000,000; where a man, struck with a quick flash from eternity, dies, is buried, and leaves to be distributed among his sorrowing heirs the extraordinary accumulation of $250,000,000; in this city where men, who have lived here less than five years, are known by their associates and by them alone, for the general public hasn't hitherto been taken into their confidence, to be worth, man after man, $25,000,000, $40,000,000, $50,000,000, is it strange that public interest is awakened and general curiosity excited to know, first, how these men got these almost fabulous amounts of money, and second, what they do with it?—Joe Howard in New York World.

Women and Sleeping Car Porters.

I have been on the road for fifteen years and I know of only two ladies who ever offered to pay the porter for his trouble. They are from Chicago and are sisters of a young man who travels frequently over my run. The family is all alike, and I have yet to find one of them who ever carried more then a small grip sack, not too large to be carried easily in the hand. They to some pleasure for a porter to meet folks like these, especially when the three of them come in together. I like their free and independent style, as they never want any attendance, and the young ladies, before retiring, hand me their bottles of patent polish so that I won't spoil their shoes with a cheap blacking. In the morning they stand up to be brushed and the two girls drop me a quarter apiece. They always consider the porter, for I met the sister when I was on the New York run, on an extra, and they passed out four bits when half the men in the car; who rode through from Chicgo only gave the regular one night tip of a quarter. I guess they got the habit from their brother, but any way I shan't forget them, as they are the only two women in the United States who ever remembered the poor porter.—Interview with a Porter.

Mrs. Pullman's Journeyings.

Mr. and Mrs. George M. Pullman are going on a two months' trip through California in their private car. This sounds like a simple announcement, but, if you knew the pomp and circumstance that attend the journeyings to and fro of Mrs. Pullman, you would be amazed even in this day of luxury. She is attended by a huge cavalcade of horses, dogs and servants. Her two daughters always accompany her, and their surroundings en route are fit for royalty, and, indeed, far surpass the entourage of H. R. H. the Prince of Wales whene'er he takes his walks abroad an chemin defer. An upright piano, ormulu tables, bookcases and flower vases, easy chairs and Turkish divans, pictures, luxurious beds, and above all a faultless kitchen and a faultless cook. Who would not be content "on the wing" with such accessories? Mrs. Pullman's oldest daughter, Florence, is a young lady, still very youthful, who made her entrance into society before she closed her school books.—New York Graphic.

Making Fringed Christmas Cards.

Half a dozen young women were seated the other day around a long table in the back room of a little shop on Fulton street making fringed Christmas cards. At one end of the table were two piles of cardboard sheets about three feet square. Each sheet contained twelve prettily colored prints. Two of the young women, armed with immense shears, were busy cutting the big sheets up into cards. The other four, each with a pastepot and a stack of delicately tinted fringes, were making the Christmas cards proper. The single cards are of two designs, one for each side of the fringed card. Mucilage is applied to the edges of the back of one card, the fringe is run around, and a card of the other kind with the edges mucilaged is placed upon the fringe. The fringed card, thus made, is pressed until the mucilage is dry, and the card is ready for the market. The six young women turn out 900 of the fringed cards a day.—New York Mail and Express.

He Was Acquainted with Grief.

The man with the solemn look and the weeping willow whiskers was addressing the Sunday school.

"Children," said he, "trouble and sorrow come to all of us in this life. Probably you do not realize it yet, but sorrow and trouble will come to you too. Now your life is happy and joyous, but when you get to be as old as I am, the care and grief will come. Children——"

Here the speaker was interrupted by the frantic motions of a little boy on the front seat.

"Well, my son," said he, paternally, "what is it?"

"Say," said the boy, complacently, "my mother died when I was six months old. What do you think of that?"—Somerville Journal.

Two Hundred Rooms. The Leading Hotel of the Northwest, corner Front and Morrison streets, Portland, Oregon. The house has just been thoroughly overhauled, from ground floor to attic, being repainted, papered and refurnished throughout. Twenty additional rooms on the west end, second floor, all entirely new in appointments. An Otis Elevator has just been introduced, with a capacity for carrying ten tons weight, making the upper floors as convenient as those on the ground. The St Charles, as now arranged, is undoubtedly the finest and most complete establishment of the kind in the Northwest. The Restaurant, in charge of Chas. Helman, is conducted in first class style and affords visitors every luxury known to the epicure. june7

CITY AND PROVINCE.

—New programme and four new artists at the Concordia to-night.

—Money saved by having your plans made by FISHER, the ARCHITECT *

—Vancouver will vote on the 29th inst. on a loan by-law for $150,000 for local improvements.

—Photographic views along the line of the C. P. R in B. C., for sale at R. MAYNARD'S, Douglas St.

—DECKER, FISCHER and HEINTZMAN PIANOS for sale at M. W. Waitt & Co.'s Music Store. *

—EASTERN OYSTERS, fresh every day, at JOE LEVY'S, by gallon, quart or pint. Same price as Island Oysters. *

—The Home Social Club will give one of their enjoyable hops at Prof. Oliver's dancing academy Wednesday evening next.

—WORKINGMEN—Note the difference; candidates give you cheap talk, ERSKINE cheap boots at the corner of Government and Johnson Sts. *

—Among the first to vote this morning was Mr. Stenhouse, M. P. P., who cast the first ballot at Harmony Hall, plumping for the Liberal candidate.

—Cheaper than remnants is what the ladies say when they see those MELTON CLOTHS at 20 cents per yard at the ARGYLE HOUSE. *

—The steamship Geo. W. Elder arrived at the outer wharf at 10 o'clock this morning and left this afternoon for the Sound.

—The new Blue Ribbon hall at Esquimalt will be formally opened on Thursday night next by a social and dance. Many from this city intend being present.

—Dr. A. C. West, dentist, will for the present occupy dental rooms in Hastings' Photographic buildings, Fort street, where his old patrons and all requiring fine dental work, are respectfully invited to call. *

—The first vote for Blake and Liberalism was recorded by that veteran politician, Mr. T. J. Burnes. A score of such men would carry the Liberal banner to victory in any constituency in the Dominion.

—Do not forget to extend a helping hand to the crew of the wrecked bark T. R. Foster by attending the benefit to be given in their aid by the St. Joseph's Literary Society in the Victoria Theatre Thursday night next.

Hall & Quackenbush, Vancouver, B.C., have the most complete list of business and suburban properties for sale at the terminus of the Canadian Pacific Railway. Price and terms to suit all parties. Inquiries by mail promptly answered. References. *

—Victoria traders visiting Vancouver to sell goods have never been called upon to pay the transient trader's license fee. Mr. Picken writes to the News calling attention to the injustice to local merchants and suggesting the enforcement of the by-law.

—M. W. Waitt & Co. have the largest and best assorted stock of musical instruments and merchandise ever imported into the city. Pianos and organs of the best makes always on hand. The latest sheet music and music books kept and constantly arriving. Call and examine. H. KENT, Manager. *

—Enormous crowds of men have been congregated on the corners of Government and Yates streets all day. As the hours of the day grow shorter the crowd becomes larger. Great interest is manifested as to the outcome and all sorts of speculations are being made as to the result.

—Now that the contest is over, the animosities engendered during the contest should be buried and forgotten. We confess it will be a hard thing for Messrs. Fell, Humphreys and McCallum to forgive the Colonist, which has transcended all its previous efforts in malignant personal abuse, but they should try to do so. In the language of Gen. Grant, "let us have peace."

Mr. Pitt's Denial.

Mr. R. D. Pitt, speaking at Mr. Trapp's meeting at Vancouver, replied to the charge made by Mr. Higgins in the House, which was, that he (Pitt) was at one time the leader in a Fenian attempt to blow up the dry dock. The allegations, he said, were totally groundless, and he could not understand how they ever came to be made, especially by one whom he had always believed to be an old and sincere friend.

The Missing Men.

The party of missing explorers referred to in Friday's issue, consisted of C. C. Ralston, of Vancouver; John Thomas, otherwise known as "Navy Jack," and another young man. They have now been absent eleven weeks. Their destination was understood to be Knight's Inlet, and as they only took five weeks' provisions it is feared the whole party has been lost. A search party will proceed north and endeavor to ascertain their fate.

Victoria Athletic Club.

The half yearly election of officers of the above club took place on Thursday evening last. The following officers were elected: T Deasy, President; C Gardiner, Vice-President; E Shade, secretary; W Williams, treasurer; J Weiler, financial secretary; G A Shade, captain. At the close of the meeting President Deasy was presented with an elegant gold headed cane handsomely engraved.

Lumber Advanced.

The rise in price of rough lumber at Vancouver, including building, bridge, wharf and street planks, is 25 per cent. The advances on dressed, flooring, rustic and double-dressed finishing lumber ranges from 5 to 10 per cent. Shingles and laths are 10 per cent higher.

Not Sure Itself.

A dispatch from Quebec of the 25th says: Sir Hector Langevin's organ, the Courrier du Canada, claims a small majority for Sir John in Quebec Province, but is evidently not very sure of it.

In God's Temple.

During the absence of Mr. E. A. McQuade, who returned to-day on the Geo. W. Elder from San Francisco, Mr. Chas A. Lombard has had charge of the St. Andrew's Roman Catholic Church choir. Yesterday, at the morning services, the Sanctus and Benedictus of Generalis Mass was excellently sung by a splendid choir of fifteen voices. Mr. Thos. Gore sang a bass solo, "O Salutaris," very creditably. At the evening services "Ecce Panis," baritone solo, was sung by Mr. C. A. Lombard in fine style. Miss Clara Cameron sang "O Salutaris," by Theo. Von La Hache. The lady has a fine and sweet voice and did justice to the selection. Mr. De L'Aubiniere sang Gounod's "Ave Maria" with great taste, but evidently was suffering from a severe cold which prevented him doing as much justice as is due to his fine, deep, bass voice. The choir when entrusted to Mr. C. A. Lombard by Mr. E. A. McQuade was placed in safe and capable hands, and no doubt the latter gentleman will duly appreciate the former's efforts.

Astonishing Success.

It is the duty of every person who has used Boschee's German Syrup to let its wonderful qualities be known to their friends in curing Consumption, severe Coughs, Croup, Asthma, Pneumonia, and in fact all throat and lung diseases. No person can use it without immediate relief. Three doses will relieve any case, and we consider it the duty of all Druggists to recommend it to the poor, dying consumptive, at least to try one bottle, as 80,000 dozen bottles were sold last year, and no one case where it failed was reported. Such a medicine as the German Syrup cannot be too widely known. Ask your druggist about it. Sample bottles to try, sold at 10 cents. Regular size, 75 cents. Sold by all Druggists and Dealers, in the United States and Canada. *

The Vancouver Affair.

The Vancouver Herald says: "Mr. Beaven made the most sensible speech in connection with the Vancouver bill. It shows that common sense had not taken leave of all the members."

"Mr. John Robson saw in this Vancouver trouble an opportunity to make a world-wide reputation and he meant to embrace it. The reputation of being a Briton was of more consequence to him than the unjustifiable invasion of civic rights. Then he got pathetic about the "blot it would cause to rest on our fair escutcheon." This is a specimen of John's highfalutin, and consists of fuss and feathers. The world-wide reputation the Legislature will receive by this Vancouver matter will be that of fools and they have fairly earned it.

Then and Now.

The Vancouver News says that Capt. Mitchel, of the British bark St. Lawrence now in port, on making his first sea voyage, visited Burrard Inlet eighteen years ago. At that time both the Hastings and Moodyville Mills were worked by water power, and the vessel in which he arrived brought on board machinery for the latter mill. With the exception of the space covered by the mill buildings and a few houses adjoining, both sides of the Inlet were one dense mass of forest trees. During his stay in port the vessel's crew depended entirely for their food upon deer, elk and game brought in by the Indians from the neighborhood. Elk could be taken in abundance and were as plentiful as deer are now.

A Deliberate Forgery.

In the Colonist's campaign issue of this morning there was published an alleged copy of an agreement between Lim Sam and Look Den, two well-known Chinamen, and Mr. T. B. Humphreys, wherein the latter agreed, for the sum of $900, to return three Chinese women to their friends. The agreement was a deliberate forgery, and early in the forenoon an affidavit pronouncing it such was sworn to by Lim Sam and Look Den before Mr. Ed. Allen, J. P., and posted on Campbell's corner. An act more villainous cannot be conceived.

Betting on the Election.

Betting on the election has been fairly brisk. The favorite bet was that T. B. Humphreys would or would not be elected. Other bets were that both Messrs. Baker and Shakespeare would be elected. Others were made that Baker would head the poll. One individual bet a small sum that W. A. Robertson would not save his $200. Odds of two to one were offered that Capt. McCallum would not "get there" and promptly taken. The outcome will be watched with interest by those putting up shekels.

Saloons Closed.

"And" to-day is the first day for a long time that my doors have been entirely closed to the public, and I sympathize for the early bird that craves for the morning cocktail," was the remark of a well known saloon keeper to-day. The saloon keepers, and to their credit too, have rigidly complied with the law in respect to keeping closed to-day, which is in striking contrast to the American method, where the corner grocery and back door are called into use during polling day.

Latest Ship Charters.

The ship Carrollton, 1390 tons, now at San Francisco, has been chartered to load coal at Nanaimo for the former port by John Rosenfeld.

The large ship John McDonald, 2175 tons, has also been chartered to load coal at Nanaimo for San Francisco by John Rosenfeld.

The Chinese bark Kwong Tung, 636 tons, has been chartered by R Dunsmuir & Sons to load coal at Departure Bay for Honolulu. All these vessels are at present in San Francisco harbor.

The Concordia.

To-night the sensational border drama of "The Trapper's Daughter," and a good one. This is the last appearance of the favorites, Mulligan and Kidd, and Billy De'Ome. Four new stars appear Monday next. *

Disgraceful in the Extreme.

Beyond doubt the issues of the Colonist on Sunday morning and its campaign edition of this (Monday) morning are the vilest and most virulent publications that ever emanated from the press of Canada. Justly they are condemned on every hand. Our opinion has always been that the journalist serves his country and his party best who serves his readers best, and he can only serve his readers by telling them the truth as he sees it, and not by seeking to strain it to his argument, or, for purposes of his own, to make irreconcilable facts consist, or—thinking he is deceiving some body, to crouch like the ostrich behind some rock, his whole body exposed to view. He must be disinterested; and if he is so, he will find in the public confidence and ample reward. These are the generally accepted views in regard to successful journalism. Sadly indeed has the once powerful Colonist degenerated. Its name is now synonymous with everything that is vile, virulent and of an unsavory nature. For the sake of the profession it is to be hoped that the elections now being over a new leaf will be turned and respectability take the place of scurrility and falsehood.

Alarmed.

The Tories of the city are so dreadfully alarmed at their impending doom that it has been found necessary to appeal to Winnipeg for consolation. A telegram is paraded this morning in the Colonist purporting to have been received from Mr. W. B. Scarth, of Winnipeg. That rabid Tory also claims that Sir John's majority is twenty-nine. We pilfer the Toronto Mail's version and that of L'Etendard. The garbled despatch from Sir John is withheld to publish the news of a claimed majority far and near. To cover their utter defeat the Tories, true to the traditions of that party are claiming every body. Even Mr. James Trow, M. P. for South Perth, the opposition which in the last parliament is claimed as a Conservative. He says he is a Grit in every sense of the term and threatens the Tories with a libel suit for classifying him amongst such doubtful company. He has no faith in the "boodle brigade."

What Anglin Says.

Every true hearted Irishman in this city, either personally or by reputation, knows the Hon. T. W. Anglin, Speaker of the Commons during the Mackenzie administration, in the issue of the Tribune, of the 25th February, says:

"Notwithstanding all the means so shamelessly employed by the Tory government and its agents, it cannot be ascertained when we write whether Sir John A. Macdonald has or has not a majority. The probability seems to be that he may have a majority of eight or ten, if the few who are doubtful be classed as his supporters. With so small a majority a government so discredited and shattered cannot possibly exist very long."

Stupid Officers.

Some of the deputy returning officers were very imperfectly instructed in their duties. At one polling division in the city, the number of the voter on the voters' list was placed on the ballot as well as on the counterfoil, instead of on the latter only. The destruction of the counterfoil with the number thereon is a guarantee of secrecy, but when the number is placed on the ballot it becomes possible to discover how votes were recorded. It is a pity that in such an important matter the men having charge of the booths should act so stupidly and thus imperil the verdict of the majority.

Rally of the Faithful.

From Dan even into Beersheba the faithful were enjoined to rally to the support of Sir John's Tory twins—Baker and Shakespeare. To-day are to be seen on the streets men from far off Cowichan, the great small isles in the Gulf, Alberni, Sooke, the mainland and remote places thereon. Such a devotion to party in preference to country is truly a saddening spectacle. When yellow dog takes precedence over patriotism well may it exclaimed "God help poor Canada."

Clearly Illegal.

Whatever may be the result of to-day's polling there is one fact that cannot be overlooked, namely that on the part of Messrs. Baker and Shakespeare and their freinds the contest has been conducted in direct violation of the law. It is currently reported that vehicles were hired by a prominent worker in the Tory cause, and that electors were driven to the polls to-day. The truthfulness of this report will yet be verified.

The Alaska Route.

The steamer Olympian is being overhauled and will be put on the Alaska route along with the Idaho and Ancon, making her first trip in April. A large tourist travel is expected, and this arrangement is for the purpose of meeting it. The Olympian will make the round trip in eleven or twelve days, and will only carry passengers, mails and light freight.

A Bomb Shell.

The receipt of Toronto papers of the 26th ultimo, was a veritable bomb shell in the camp of Torydom in Victoria. Here they are, however, much to the chagrin of the men and creatures which The Times repeatedly stigmatized as knowingly uttering expressions concerning its reliability which they knew to be false. He laughs longest and loudest who laughs last.

More Taxation.

In a recent interview Sir John Macdonald said that he was determined to provoke retaliatory measures against the United States. He said:

"As to trade relations, well, we shall very likely raise the duty on such articles as generally come from the United States, and in that way we will bring the people of that country to a knowledge of the fact that we must have recognition."

Lie No. 2 Nailed.

The latest eastern Canadian exchanges received in this city by mail were the Winnipeg papers of the 24th ult.

So says the Colonist of this morning. It is another bold, bald falsehood and nailed so on the spot. See comments elsewhere regarding Toronto journals of the 26th ult.

Fatal Accident.

At Port Moody on Friday night, as a special freight train from the east was entering the yard six cars jumped the track. A brakeman, named David Quackenbush, who was on top of the cars at the time, was thrown off and crushed beneath the wheels. Death was instantaneous.

Off the Rocks.

The bark Viola, which drifted ashore in Esquimalt harbor on Saturday morning, was floated during the following night. It is thought that she has not sustained any serious damage.

New Tug.

Mr. J. M. Cowper, of New Westminster, has given a contract for the construction of a new tug, 60 feet long, to be ready in May.

MARINE.

The Geo. W. Elder arrived from San Francisco at 10 a. m.

The Idaho is expected to leave to-morrow forenoon for the north.

A VILE TRAFFIC.

How Chinese Girls are Treated by Their Masters.

In a recent issue the Montreal Herald dwells at some length upon the enormity of the crime of abducting young, innocent girls from their homes and sent to the haunts of sin in the cities of the east. Revelations have lately been made of unfortunate women who were taken prisoners, as it were, to the backwoods of Michigan, to the lumbering camps. Equally revolting stories have come to light in reference to what is being done in this line in Quebec and throughout Eastern Ontario. When such a deplorable state of affairs exists there, the Herald pertinently says, "what it is in the interior of British Columbia may easily be imagined."

What the exact number of these poor creatures is, or what the amount the government makes out of them we cannot tell, and must wait until the session to obtain the necessary returns to discover, but the number is large and we believe increasing. These girls are purchased from their parents in China. What lies may be told by the comprador who obtains them goodness only knows, but his explanations are probably as truthful as the advertisements that catch the Canadian girls whose lives are sacrificed in the Michigan woods. Having been purchased, they are shipped to British Columbia, and there the government steps in and demands its share. We believe the department considers that $50 for each girl is about the square thing, and having received this it allows the trade with the masters of the Chinese brothels to go on. The girls are handed over to their purchasers, and enter on their life in Canada. A certain number, we understand, are shipped into the interior and of their life there probably the story of the Michigan girls may be pari passu a faithful account. We have already called attention to this matter and the organs are silent upon it. But we do not believe that the Canadian people desire to become partners in a slave trade of any kind, and least of all such a slave trade as this. Several members of the government have visited British Columbia within the year. They cannot be ignorant of the business in which they are engaged, and the people of Canada will not hold them guiltless for permitting such a state of things to exist in a Canadian community.

The Times' Extra Edition.

Issued somewhat hurriedly, at 10 o'clock this morning, giving full returns of the elections in the east, was received with great acceptance and commented upon favorably by the hundreds which flocked around THE TIMES office eager to secure a copy. The grotesque display the Colonist's scribbers made of themselves in making wild, windy assertions regarding the non-arrival of eastern papers was much commented upon. It is probable the young goslings will be more careful hereafter. There is certainly a fertile field there for improvement. The old foxy transgressor was but a mere patch to his shadows in the paths of journalistic perverseness and wickedness.

General Surprise.

To-night's returns will be a surprise to many. It will be found that not to the strong nor to the swift belongs the battle. A heavy vote is being polled. Each of the candidates and their friends are working hard. The total vote of the district is 2,190, including aliens. The total vote on the 1882 list was 1,211, of which Mr. Baker received 441; Mr. Shakespeare 400, Mr. De Cosmos 308, C. Booth 241, James Fell 139, John Boyd 89. It is safe to assert that any of the candidates polling 650 votes will be duly elected.

SPECIAL EDITION.

The Victoria Daily Times.

Vol. 6.—Third Year. VICTORIA, B. C., MONDAY MORNING, MARCH 7, 1887. No. 50

CAPT. McCALLUM,

An Owner of Real Estate in the City and in the Country.

Capt. McCallum is the owner of one and a quarter acres of land adjoining the new residence of Dr. Davie, near Government House.

Two city lots in Spring Ridge.

One city lot in James Bay.

Also, has the Crown grant title for 160 acres in the Cowichan District, on which is a cottage, stable and out-buildings.

Capt. McCallum is, therefore, a bona fide owner of Victoria city, as well as country property. The prosperity of Victoria is Capt. McCallum's prosperity. His interests and those of the electors are identical. In marking your ballots remember the FOURTH name on the ballot, and mark a X opposite his name.

A LIE NAILED.

The Colonist this morning says:

"No Toronto papers come through since the day of election."

A gentleman, well known in Victoria and vicinity, arrived from the east on Saturday. To his kindness and courtesy THE TIMES is indebted for copies of the Toronto Mail and Globe of Saturday, 26th February, and Toronto Tribune of the 25th. That gentleman was Captain Larkin, the well known Canadian contractor. The Colonist is as unreliable as the weather. It always lies. In short, the truth is not in it, or a virtue possessed by those connected with it. Electors note the above and mark your ballots for Captain McCallum.

THE BOSS ANANIAS.

The most accomplished fabricator on the Continent is the Colonist. In its special issue of to-day it states that no paper published since the elections have come through. This is on a par with its many other assertions regarding election returns. In short, it is a falsehood of the vilest type, and nailed on the spot. The Globe, Mail and Tribune of the 25th and 26th February are in the hands of Mr. Frank Campbell, where the Ananiases of the Colonist can see them. Verily, what liars these fellows be anyhow.

TWO VOTES.

Electors have two votes. See that Captain McCallum gets one. Give the other to the person you think best qualified to represent your interests and those of the city.

Lie No. 2 Nailed.

The latest eastern Canadian exchanges received in this city by mail were the Winnipeg papers of the 24th ult.

So says the Colonist of this morning. It is another bold, bald falsehood and nailed so on the spot. See comments elsewhere regarding Toronto journals of the 25th ult.

WHAT ANGLIN SAYS.

Every true hearted Irishman in this city, either personally or by reputation, knows the Hon. T. W. Anglin, Speaker of the Commons during the Mackenzie administration, in the issue of the Tribune, of the 25th February, says:

"Notwithstanding all the means so shamelessly employed by the Tory government and its agents, it cannot be ascertained when we write whether Sir John A. Macdonald has or has not a majority. The probability seems to be that he may have a majority of eight or ten, if the few who are doubtful be classed as his supporters. With so small a majority a government so discredited and shattered cannot possibly exist very long."

A BOMB SHELL.

The receipt of Toronto papers of the 26th ultimo, was a veritable bomb shell in the camp of Torydom in Victoria. Here they are, however, much to the chagrin of the men and creatures which The Times repeatedly stigmatized as knowingly uttering expressions concerning its reliability which they knew to be false. He laughs longest and loudest who laughs last.

PROOF DEMANDED.

The local Tories in their zeal to keep up their end of the political boodle stick publish telegrams from the premier and others. It will be observed that no date is given. No names of members elect. No constituencies or majorities. Read the full and complete account of these given in to-day's TIMES, taken from the Toronto papers up to Saturday, Feb. 26.

DID NOT CONNECT.

The Colonist's honey and canoe express failed to connect on this trip. Bold assertions unsupported by returns or evidence will avail ourcontemporary nothing. The route of the boodle brigade in the east is complete—overwhelming. Sir John must go!

SETTLING IT.

"Privy" Conn. Higgins and his marionettes are said to be disputing the right of each other to the appellation of being the boss closest fabricators on the continent. The existing relations are consequently becoming somewhat strained.

QUEBEC!

Views of the Mail, the Globe and L' Etendard.

The Nationalists will Vote a Want of Comfidence.

NEITHER PARTY CAN CLAIM A VICTORY.

The following, which appears in the leading column of the Toronto Mail of the 26th, is worthy a careful perusal. It will be observed that the Mail does not claim a majority for either party. Its reference to the position to be taken by the contending factions in Quebec is specially interesting at this juncture. Sir JOHN evidently has a serious problem on hand to solve as to where his boasted majority of 40 is to come from:

"The Globe is the only paper in the country that we know of which asserts that there is a majority for Mr. BLAKE. On the other hand, the Conservative journals are not justified in claiming the Ultramontane members as Government supporters. The Ultramontanes call themselves Conservatives and will support the Government on two issues, but on a general question of want of confidence they declared in their election addresses, and we are bound to believe them, that they should vote against the Government. Moreover, the Government put up Bleu candidates against the Ultramontanes, eight of whom have been elected; and it is rather a bold thing to hold that a man who says he is opposed to Sir JOHN on every question but two, and whom Sir JOHN has tried to defeat, IS A TRUSTWORTHY TORY. The Ultramontanes elected to the Quebec Assembly defeated the TAILLON Administration, though the Conservative press maintained up to the last that they would be found on this side; and the Ultramontanes returned on Tuesday will show no mercy to Sir John. The Mail has endeavored, regardless of all other considerations, to give the public the truth; and if our figures differ from those of the party journals, the explanation is that the party journals are trying to pull up the courage of their adherents by a process of make-believe. * * *

The returns from Quebec show that the Government and its advisers were in the dark as to the strength and depth of the RIEL agitation. During the local campaign in that province, the Ministerial press insisted that Dr. Ross would have a majority of at least 25. Yet he had no majority at all, and, as a sequel showed, the Bleu party was left utterly helpless. Mr. MERCIER meets the House in a few days, and his majority will probably not be less than fifteen, members elected to support Dr. Ross flocking to the winning side. When the Dominion campaign opened, the Government journals were just as sanguine. On February 12th, only ten days before the polling, La Minerve was absolutely certain that the province would give a Conservative majority of fifteen; and in his speech to the manufacturers in this city the Premier expressed himself as confident of a majority there, though he did not state its dimensions. The explanation of the Government's blindness is probably to be found, first, in the fact that men in office seldom hear the actual truth; and secondly, in the enormous increase in the number of voters in Quebec through the lowering of the franchise, which let in an element largely Reilite and nativist, of which Ministers apparently took no account. In the Quebec district the Government was utterly routed, a fact which goes to confirm the Ultramontane report that Cardinal TASCHEREAU is not well-disposed towards Sir JOHN. Writing privately a month ago, a Quebec correspondent of this journal, who is in a position to know, stated that the Church did not care which side won, provided the Quebec vote continued to hold the balance of power; and this view is borne out by the results. The Church can not only put out Sir JOHN, who has seventeen Bleus in his retinue, but she can destroy Mr. BLAKE, who is supported by eight Ultramontanes and about twenty-five Rouges, many of them elected by Nationalist votes. Quebec, in short, holds the key of the position, and will no doubt pursue her historic policy, Nous avons l'avantage, profitons-en.

The Boodler's Doom.

Remember that the electors in the east left at home a large number of the "Boodle brigade." In the Commons a resolution was introduced by John Charlton, M. P., to prevent the future plundering of the public domain. It was voted down by the machine majority at the back of the government. Amongst the number were Messrs. Baker and Shakespeare.

☞ Remember that Baker and Shakespeare voted against Mr. Blake's Home Rule resolutions.

THE CONSERVATIVE NATIONALISTS.

[From L'Etendard (Con. Nat. organ) Feb. 24.]

LaMinerve returns for Quebec are: 38 Conservatives. It says Conservatives! Not Ministerialists; that is wise! And 27 Liberals!

But who are they who make up these 38 Conservatives in LaMinerve's list? One could scarcely believe it. There is M. Mdesjardins, who said of his chief:—"The old firebrand who began his political career in the glare of the burning Parliament House in 1849, is about to close it behind the gallows at Regina."

There is M. Girouard, who cried out against the treason of the Ministerial leaders, and insisted on the necessity of overthrowing them at any cost. Then there is M. Bergeron, of Beauharnois, M. Desaulniers, of Maskinonge!

Messrs. Coursol, Girouard, Bergeron, Desjardins, authors of the Champ-de-Mars resolustions! These members whom La Minerve has not ceased to brand as Liberal Rouges, rebels, authors of revolutionary shamelessness! And we know not how much else

What boxes on the ear, what kicks, what insults have not La Minerve and its masters themselves received from these excellent Conservatives of to-day!

* * * * * *

La Minerve has been at pains to forget that MM. Bergeron, Desjardins, Coursol, Gigault, Dupont, Girouard, Amyot, Gaudet, Desaulniers, etc., while announcing themselves Conservatives. have been careful to add "BUT NOT MINISTERIALISTS."

What can that mean then if not that they are supporters of the Ministry?

There are some other Canservatives claimed by La Minerve, such as MM. Labelle, member for Richelieu; Guilbault, member for Joliette; McMillan, member for Vaudreuil; and more than all the others, Desaulniers, of St. Maurice, who succeeded in getting themselves elected only by squarely avowing themselves Nationalists, and emphatically condemning the chief acts of Sir John's policy.

The latter gentleman was also at the head of the organization that at Yamachiche burned Sir John and his colleagues in effigy. M. Frans. Desaulniers had even organized a second roasting, which did not take place, probably because from the moment the first word of them reached us, L'Etendard strongly condemned such tactics.

Is it really possible to find anything more grotesque than this pean-singing of La Minerve's, announcing the election of all these men, chosen for their adhesion to ultra Nationalist platforms, as unprecedented triumphs in honor of its masters whom all these Nationalist platforms have condemned and even insulted?

That La Minerve has room for triumphing in the majorities obtained by its masters in Ontario and Nova Scotia by heating to whiteness Orange fanaticism and prejudiced Protestants; that it scatters broadcast guarantees of patronage, the reward of sacrificing the French-Canadian cause we frankly admit.

In fact what else does La Minerve feel the need of? Given a Ministerial majority that will assure it and its masters of having the public treasury to rob, what does it matter to it whether that majority was made up of Turks or Chinese?

But La Minerve has well said that it will not succeed in changing the conspicuous fact that a large majority of the French counties have recorded their condemnation of the policy of its masters.

A COWARD'S VICTORY.

With the exception of Kingston, says the Globe of the 26th, where Sir JOHN MACDONALD'S victory was purchased, and Peel, where Mr. FLEMING was defeated in consequence of the distress among some former supporters, the employees of a manufacturing establishment which had been shut down for months, the TUPPER party are indebted to the Gerrymander for every gain made in Ontario. And it was only by their gains in Ontario that they were saved from an overwhelming defeat.

West Huron,

—all were lost to the Liberals in consequence of the shameful mutilation of 1882. The loss of these seats weakens the Liberals by eighteen on a division. This is more than the whole Tory majority will be after election is held, even if they carry every seat yet undecided, and every effort to increase their strength is exhausted. They are claiming a coward's victory. They glory in having whipped a bound opponent.

The wrong and fraud is plain before the eyes of the people. It will be useless for the Conservative leaders to attempt longer to hide the true character of the Gerrymander. It cannot be denied that the Government of Canada is not a Government elected by the people, but the product of a scandalous misuse of power that no other country would tolerate. God help poor Canada!

THE LAST SHOT.

Conservative Meeting in the Victoria Saturday Night.

Addresses by Messrs. Baker, Shakespeare and Others.

Saturday nights meeting was a signal success, as well as a conspicuous failure. It depends altogether from which side you look at the panorama. The meeting was unquestionably successful in respect to the number and respectability of the audience, the gentlemanly appearance of the minstrels on the platform, the magnificent physiques and original sayings of the two end men, as well as in regard to the order and decorum observed by those present while undergoing the inflictions of bad speeches badly spoken. On the other hand it was a lamentable and a painful failure in respect to the enthusiasm evoked or the evidences of support to be expected, as indicated by the applause given. Mr. Baker spoke first, and did fairly well, with the exception that there was too much Crow and a little excess of nautical knowledge, master mariner's experience, &c. The small gentleman actually swelled with pomposity when dealing with the personal phase of the question, and looked every inch a lord high admiral pacing the deck of his flagship after issuing an order to hang a traitor at the yard arm. Noah, the missing link between ante and post-bellum days, did not arise and shine with his usual brilliancy. He was weak, vapid, commonplace, and for want of something truthful to say lied with a pertinacity unworthy a follower of the meek and lowly — Macdonald. Shakespeare declared that the Liberals when in power from 1873 to 1878, increased the national debt $40,000,000. Noah, we believe, is a Sunday school teacher, and knows—assuming that he knows anything at all—that to deceive intentionally while apparently uttering a truth, is equally as wrong and sinful as wilful falsehood. We repeat, then, that Noah lied, and with malice aforethought, when he sought to convey the impression that the McKenzie administration was responsible for an increase of $40,000,000 in the national debt. He would still have been lying had he mentioned quarter that sum. Colonel Baker and Mr. Turner, in brief speeches, told nothing new and told it well. Corney Booth repeated his speech of twenty years ago, but so long a time has elapsed since he last recited it that he halted painfully a couple of times. Nevertheless Corney did very well, and closed by telling the audience to vote for whoever they liked—he was not there to advise them.

Theodore Davie was hissed repeatedly, and in strange contrast Willis Bond was cheered to the echo. Willis made a much better speech than Theodore, and accomplished more good for the candidates. He has more weight, physically, mentally and forensically than the halting, stuttering fellow who so often attempts to direct public thought in Victoria. The appearance of Hon. T. B. Humphreys, during Bond's exordium, was the signal for a tumultuous shout, during which two-thirds of the audience stood up and waved their hats and hands in the air and joined in the applause. The meeting shortly afterwards ended in tumult and disorder, the chairman vacating his seat without the customary vote of thanks and his right and left supporters vamoosing the ranche in extraordinary haste. Humphreys had put the minstrels to flight, and the end men were the only two who had the courage to stand their ground. Those present were about one-third in favor of Baker and Shakespeare, and two-thirds for Humphreys and the other opposition candidates. If the result of the meeting is a presage of the vote to-day, the bumptious Baker and the saponacious Shakespeare will be buried politically beyond all hope of resurrection.

Alarmed.

The Tories of the city are so dreadfully alarmed at their impending doom that it has been found necessary to appeal to Winnipeg for consolation. A telegram is paraded this morning in the Colonist purporting to have been received from Mr. W. B. Scarth, of Winnipeg. That rabid Tory also claims that Sir John's majority is twenty-nine. We pilfer the Toronto Mail's version and that of L'Etendard. The garbled despatch from Sir John is withheld to publish the news of a claimed" majority far and near. To cover their utter defeat the Tories, true to the traditions of that party are claiming every body. Even Mr. James Trow, M. P. for South Perth, the opposition which in the last parliament is claimed as a Conservative. He says he is a Grit in every sense of the term and threateos the Tories with a libel suit for classifying him amongst such doubtful company. He has no faith in the "boodle brigade." Neither has Captain McCallum, the people's friend and candidate.

Quite Correct

Says the Chicago Tribune: With the same government in power a little longer the United States ought to be able to get Canada by buying up a mortgage. Baker and Shakespeare approve of Sir John's policy which has brought Canada to the verge of bankruptcy. While yet there is hope of staving off on such a fate every elector should vote for Capt. McCallum who is loyal and true to the very heart. He will advocate a saving of the people's moneys and honest government. Give him a vote and try him.

Country First

Should be the motto of every elector to-day. Partyism should be sunk for the well-being of the country. Vote for Capt. McCallum and honest government.

VOTE FOR McCALLUM

☞ Baker and Shakespeare voted with the government in declining to pass a resolution condemning the system of allowing the people's inheritance—the public domain to be given to members of the government, senators, members of the commons and their supporters—The "boodle brigade.

A DEAD HEAD.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE TIMES:

SIR,—It is reported that Messrs. Baker and Shakespeare are favored with free transportation tickets from Victoria to Ottawa and return. Notwithstanding this fact, I am assured that each appears on the public accounts charged with a sum close upon $800 for traveling expenses and mileage allowance. Can you enlighten your readers in this matter.

A '62 CARPENTER.

[We cannot answer our correspondent's query. We believe it is the custom with railway lines to grant members of the Commons, Senators and members of the Local Legislature passes. If it is the custom our representatives are not to blame for accepting free transportation and thereby save their mileage.—ED.]

CAPT. McCALLUM,

THE PEOPLE'S FRIEND

ELECTORS!

When marking your ballots to-day remember that Sir John's Government will be out of power shortly. Then see that you have a friend at Court. In Capt. McCallum, who will insist that Victoria's interests will be protected as against those of Vancouver or the Canadian Pacific Railway, which is bound to build up the terminal city at Victoria's expense. Baker and Shakespeare are pledged to support the government in doing this. Bear in mind your own bread and butter and the value of your property. Vote then for Capt. McCallum. His position on the ballot paper is the FOURTH name.

BAKER

I.—Edgar Crow Baker, of Victoria City, Master Mariner.

ELECTION DAY MARCH 7th.

The following appropriate verses are supposed to be the production of the Rev. Principal Grant, of Kingston, Ont.

Not in robes of silken fold,
Regal purple, gems and gold,
Not with blazoned banners spread,
Trumpet tones and martial tread;
But in silence, one by one,
From the dawn till set of the sun
Goes the people in its might,
Forth to use its royal right.

From lone homesteads scattered wide,
From the city's restless tide,
Come our Kings, with homely dress,
Faces marred by care and stress,
In whose toil-worn hands we see,
Sign nor badge of royalty;
Yet unecepted kings are they,
If their hearts are true to-day!

Half a continent waiting stands
Silent action of their hands;
Theirs to well and wisely choose
Men who with true hearts shall use—
For our Canada alone—
For her weal, and not their own
Passing glory of an hour—
Solemn trust of place and power!

Men who shall, with honest hearts,
In the light that Heaven imparts;
Seek for Canada the right,
Born alone of Truth and Right;
Men whose wisdom shall increase
Progress, happiness and peace,
Knowing righteousness alone,
Is their true foundation stone!

But our crownless kings shall be
Bonded slaves, not monarchs free,
If for favor, place or gold
Shall the freeman's right be sold;
If he trade for worthless dross
Right to save his land from loss,
Then the freeman to the knave
Sells himself—an abject slave!

His to make the choice to-day,
Noble rule or base obey,
Cringing, as do craven slaves,
At the beck of crafty knaves;
Or as men erect and strong,
Standing firm against the wrong,
Using, as a gift from Heaven,
Freedom's rights to freemen given.

Then, as Heaven shall yet demand
Court of duty to his land,
As his vote shall yet be read,
When all party cries are dead,
Earthly gains and glories fled,
When the future is the past,
And all hearts are known at last,
Let the freeman's vote be cast!

STILL ONE AHEAD.

The Toronto Globe of Saturday morning, Feb. 26th, four clear days after the day of polling, said: "No news came to hand yesterday disturbing the lists of elections as announced in the Globe, though the Conservatives, in order to cover up their retreat from their ridiculous boastings, have gone into the business of "claiming" everything under the sun. The list still stands as yesterday:

Opposition	102
Ministerialists	101
Independent	1
Elections yet to be held	11
	215

We invite attention to an article which will be found on our eigth page, from L'Etendard, the recognized organ of those Nationalists who still consider themselves as Conservatives. They are, according to their own declarations and actions, "not Ministerialists." We are, therefore, clearly within our right when we classify these among the Opposition, and there they will remain unless and until they give some evidence that they wish to rejoin the party which they have scouted and condemned in terms quite as strong as any ever employed by the Globe."

VERY LATEST

The following election returns are compiled from the Toronto journals of the 26th February, four days after the day of polling, and can therefore be depended upon as being absolutely correct:

TO THE POLLS!

Directions for Scrutineers—Who are to Vote.

GENERAL QUALIFICATIONS.

1. The only persons who can vote are persons whose names are on the voters' lists, as finally revised by the judge or revising officer. This is the first and indispensable qualification.

2. He must be of the age of 21 years.

3. He must be by birth or naturalization a British subject.

The foregoing are essentials in the qualifications of all voters.

PERSONS NOT ENTITLED TO VOTE ARE:

(1.) Judges. (2.) Revising officers. (3.) The Returning officer and election clerk, but deputy returning officers and poll clerks may vote. (4.) Any person who has been employed at the election or in reference thereto, in forwarding the same, and for which services he has been, is, or expects to be paid or remunerated. (5.) Any person bribed to vote or refrain from voting. (6.) Any person paid or who has been promised payment (a) for loss of time, (b) traveling expenses, (c) hire of team or other service connected with the election.

THE BALLOTS.

The deputy returning officer must initial the ballot and number the counterfoil. Before putting the ballot into the box the deputy returning officer must tear off and destroy the counterfoil, otherwise the number will remain to identify the voter and the ballot will be bad. Let scrutineers watch with care every ballot marked by the deputy returning officer. See that the body of the ballot is initialed and the counterfoil numbered, as provided by law.

No oath as to qualification beyond that the voter is of age and that he is a British subject, is required, except in the case of owner's or farmer's son, who has to swear to his residence.

VOTERS UNABLE TO MARK THE BALLOT PAPERS.

Any person who from blindness, or other physical cause, or who is unable to read, can have the ballot marked by the deputy returning officer; but the sworn agents of each candidate must be present at the time to see that the D. R. O. acts fairly, and the voter must make oath as to his incapacity before being allowed to vote in this way.

If a person finds that another person has voted in his name—in other words, that he has been personated—he is entitled nevertheless to insist on voting, but he must take the oath that he is the real voter.

COUNTING THE BALLOTS.

The agents must remain in the polling booths and see that the ballots are properly counted. The ballots which are not to be counted are: Those not supplied by deputy returning officers. On which anything is written or marked by which the vote can be identified. The objections made to any ballot should be noted by the deputy returning officer. It is the duty of the agent to see that this is done.

Before leaving the booth the agent should obtain and safely keep a written statement of the result of the poll, duly signed by the deputy returning officer, the poll clerk and the agents present who are willing to do so.

THE SMUT MACHINE

On Sunday and this morning was undoubtedly the vilest specimens of journalistic scurility that ever emanated from even that cess-pool. Its attacks upon Mr. Humphreys and other gentlemen are fully up to the reputations of the gutter-snipe fabricators who make the Colonist sanctum their rendezvous.

MAYOR FELL.

Thinks he is certain of being one of the chosen two. If promises will elect His Worship he will head the poll. There will be four disappointed gentlemen. Who will they be, is the problem?

Victoria's Danger.

It is stated that Mr. E. Crow Baker is an extensive property owner in Vancouver with Dr. Powell, Messrs. Oppenheimer and others. His interests there are large. The Canadian Pacific Railway controls the government and will compel it to build extensive breakwaters, docks and wharves there at the expense of Victoria. It is in the interest of Mr. Baker that this should be done. He and Mr. Shakespeare will vote solid with the government every time. Will you give these gentlemen an opportunity to ruin the value of your property by aiding to continue in power a government which has done nothing for Victoria? Then vote for Capt. McCallum the champion of the people's rights and the advocate for justice to Victoria.

More Taxation.

In a recent interview Sir John Macdonald said that he was determined to provoke retaliatory measures against the United States. He said:

"As to trade relations, well, we shall very likely raise the duty on such articles as generally come from the United States, and in that way we will bring the people of that country to a knowledge of the fact that we must have reciprocity."

This means increased taxation on every workingman's family, without a corresponding advance in wages. Vote for Captain McCallum and avoid the threatened danger.
